

LABOR DAY 2017

We should be talking about preparing to make a fight.

- Our children will have less chance for a decent job than we did.
- Most of us go in debt – and even then can't keep up our standard of living.

But the only fight most union leaders talk about is a fight to get Democrats back in office.

In fact, neither party represents working people.

- And Trump, who uses the government to build his own financial empire, has nothing in common with anyone who works.

Both parties pushed through policies that serve only the wealthy.

- Both of them, when in office, starved our children's schools for money, starved roads and bridges, starved workers' neighborhoods, starved public transit and public health care.
- Both took money that we paid in taxes and gave it in subsidies to big corporations, big banks, financial speculators and real estate "developers."
- Both put the profits of the insurance, hospital and pharmaceutical industries before the medical needs of the population.
- And Trump agitates to divide working people against each other.

To defend ourselves and our children, we need solidarity and we need to fight.

To speak for ourselves, we need our own party, a party of our own class – black, white, immigrant – a working class party.

- We won't get it by talking, or just by voting.
- It will be built in struggle – struggles to defend our own class interests.

For a Fight of the Whole Working Class!
